Brennan is originally from Colorado, where he attended the University of Northern Colorado. While there, Brennan was a member of several of the top jazz and classical ensembles, including the internationally recognized UNC Symphony Orchestra. He also taught private percussion and drumset lessons, and was the drumline instructor at Grand Junction High School in 2005. After receiving his Bachelor of Music degree in 2007, Brennan joined Princess Cruise Lines as stage band drummer and later became music director. He left Princess after six years at sea and relocated to Austin in early 2015; he hasn't been bored since. Brennan has been busy freelancing on drumset and percussion, and has also achieved regular engagements with Moreland-Young Entertainment and the Grizzly Adams Family.

Brennan looks forward to teaching lessons at Small Middle School. Please contact him with any questions you may have.
